What would you say is your greatest talent or skill? How have you developed and demonstrated that talent over time?

When we are surrounded by people who are happy, inspired and supportive. We also feel happy and free to be whom we are. This vital information is something that I learned through life. Eventually discovering that my greatest skill is the capability of motivating other people who are around me. I have observed that most amazing projects have become successful through teamwork

My skill in motivating others was clear enough ever since I was a young child. I remember finding ways to boost up the confidence of other team members of our soccer team. Even though I may not necessarily be a coach or even a leader. I make it my priority to encourage my teammates in order to look into the bright side. As such I continued to work on my motivational skills, participating in various extracurricular activities including becoming a member of the student government.

I believe that motivating other people can prove to be a great asset through life. People simply need appreciation in order to feel the needed motivation. During my soccer years. I make it a point that our goalie knows his importance in the team. I also believe that I have played a vital role in our team's overall defense. At another point. I was also able to apply my skills in giving motivation to others during our elections for student body.

At that time. I was running against a girl named Mary. Some students vandalized her posters and she felt down. With our conversations. I have persuaded her to stay in the race, simply to prove her resilience and courage. She was so convincing that she won over me. I believe that my knowledge will eventually support my future roles, especially in the field of entrepreneurship and business.
