

[Author Name]

[Instructor Name]

[Subject]

Date

A 12-year-old Dreamer

I was 12 years old when I probably met my first life-changing life challenge. I had come to know that due to some reasons, my mother could not come back from UAE to the States, where I was living with my brother and sister-in-law in our newly built home in Pennsylvania. The situation was so tied up that I could neither stay for long without my parents nor my brother taking me to them because he had to go to Canada for urgent work. So, we all were upset, thinking about what should be done. I was sad, and I wanted to go home.

Suddenly my father called and told my brother to book me a flight and pack up my stuff. The next day I was prepared to travel alone to UAE. It seemed all were happening in a flash of thunder, and nothing made sense. In a few days, I had the flight, and I was nervous, scared, and excited at the same time. My brother kept motivating me, saying, "you can do this!". So, the day finally came, and I hopped on the journey. After a long flight, I was in Dubai. I was so happy to see my mother, and the fact that I came all alone made me feel self-confident and responsible.

Now, whenever I feel intimidated or nervous about doing something, I just recall that day and tell myself how I came alone and how it made me a strong person. So that day is a very important day of my life.

It relates to why I feel I deserve this internship. I believe I have the confidence and courage to take up new challenges. I do not always promise to win, but I promise to get back in the race every time I'm knocked down. Therefore, I would be a great candidate for an internship at ABC Company because I believe in myself and my ability to work toward correcting myself and working hard every time.